Mayor Taylor's Independence Shocks the Graft Prosecution.

Spreckels Is Trying to Capture the Labor Union Delegates.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The graft prosecution, with Rudolph Spreckels, the champion of the Spring Valley and the Municipal Railways Company, the latter incorporated with a capital stock of $20,000,000, and of which Spreckels and former Mayor James D. Phelan are the local representatives, is much exercised over the attitude of the newly appointed Mayor, Dr. Taylor.

When Spreckels and Phelan entered upon the laudable occupation of rehabilitating the morals of the public officials of San Francisco, it now appears that their idea of reform was the turning over to themselves of all the municipal offices. A government by the "big stick," which was merely an alias for the so-called prosecution, was to be the purified moral atmosphere that was to whistle through the department of the Hall of Justice and other places where public officials assemble.

BIG STICK PURIFIES.

The old Board of Supervisors was disinfected in the view of the prosecution, the moment it became the "big stick," and not the board of Ruef and Schmitz. These rascals would still be in public office and doing the bidding of the "big stick" under written immunity contracts and still more extensive verbal agreements, for they were cleansed of their sins immediately they delivered themselves to the purifiers, but for the public clamor that made their removal necessary. The contracts between the district attorney and the grafters, which contracts are now held in escrow by Rudolph Spreckels, granting the boddies immunity from punishment were, according to the sworn statements of the Supervisors in the graft trials, accompanied with verbal promises from Langdon, Heney, Spreckels and Burns, that the rascals should be retained in office until the end of the terms for which they were elected; the public demand for the removal of the boddies being too strong to be longer resisted. Dr. Taylor was made Mayor and the resignation of fifteen of the sixteen remaining boddies in the board were secured.

TAYLOR GIVES SURPRISE.

But now the prosecution is in much disprunt at the course that is being taken by Mayor Taylor. In their public declarations, before his selection for the office, they sought to make political capital by insisting that they wanted an "independent" man for the office. It now looks as though they had got what they said they wanted but did not want. They have got a Mayor that is at least independent of them. They told Dr. Taylor, when they urged him to take the office that they expected him to be independent, but their idea of independence is greatly at variance with Mayor Taylor's interpretation of the word or condition.

NOT TAKING ORDERS.

The purifying prosecution expected Taylor to consult with and take orders from them before performing any official acts. Particularly in matters of the appointment of commissioners and the distribution of valuable public patronage was this desired by the combine that still lingers it is doing politics. The first disagreement between the Mayor and the philanthropic purifiers is said to have been over the appointment of the Board of Supervisors. The prosecution wished some Union Labor men appointed. They considered such a course "good politics." They were even willing to select them for the Mayor, and thus assist him in bearing the burdens of office, so considerate of his welfare were they at that time. But Taylor thought differently and decided not to appoint any Union Labor men in his legislative body. While the prosecution was very angry they decided it wise to "grin and bear it," for there

POLITICAL SITUATION IN LABOR CIRCLES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The following interviews show in brief the situation in labor political circles:

"Schmitz is an ideal candidate. If available, he would be nominated by the delegates that will be elected on the regular union labor ticket."—Thomas F. Eagan, chairman of the union labor city and county committee.

"Any movement calculated to divide labor at this time is open to suspicion. Casey intends to get control of the union labor party and kill it."—Supervisor O. A. Tveitmoe.

"The opinions of Eagan and Tveitmoe are good only as expressions of their personal views and tendencies. They do not represent the views of organized labor."—Michael Casey.

TELEGRAPHERS GO OUT ON A STRIKE

Oakland Woman Is Said to Have Been Cause of Trouble.

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—The strike of the Western Union telegraph operators in this city which was called last night, following the discharge of John Ryan, a union operator, on the ground of deliberately delaying business, continued today.

According to the men, about sixty-five out of a total of seventy-five are on strike. The company, however, is fairly well supplied with operators, and is taking care of all business offered. Messages are being received "subject to delay" but they are going forward almost as usual.

Last night the company was able to muster about twenty operators, who succeeded in cleaning up all business or hand by the time the day shift came on. Today eighteen operators were at work at 9 o'clock, in place of the usual thirty to thirty-five, ordinarily on duty at that hour.

Additional operators were being brought in as rapidly as possible by local manager R. H. Miller, and in all probability there will be but little delay in the day's business.

CLOSE BRANCH OFFICES.

The company closed all its branch offices at the hotels and other places this morning and brought such operators as would come, to the main office and put them to work. These outside operators were all women. Several declined to go and joined the ranks of the strikers.

Of the eighteen operators at work this morning, seven of them were employees, the remainder made up of outside operators, many from other departments. One had formerly worked the key and the local officials of the company. Four were women, two of them old employees.

Notwithstanding the contention of the men that it is not a union strike the fact remains that union difficulties with the Western Union management resultant from the Oakland and San Francisco troubles, is at the bottom of the affair. The strike was not ordered by the union officials, however, and is said not to be sanctioned by them. W. L. Burke, one of the strikers, acting as publicity agent, stated today:

"It is simply a matter of protecting ourselves against being 'weeded' out by the Western Union management. Su-

Quiet Follows Gun Play at Casa Blanca

TANGIER, Aug. 8.—A steamer which arrived here today from Casa Blanca reports that quiet has been restored there among the natives, and that the Europeans are all well. The bombardment of the place by the French cruisers lasted forty-eight hours. The native quarter was much damaged. Additional French forces were landed at Casa Blanca yesterday afternoon. The report of the bombardment of Massan by the French cruiser Du Chalayat is confirmed.

LABORER IS HURT BY AUTO Jaw and Two Ribs Are Fractured

Shortly after midnight this morning and while crossing the San Leandro road to his home in Elmhurst, L. L. Boonzaier, a laborer from the Netherlands, and forty-six years old, was run down by automobile No. 10,444 driven by R. Kemp. Boonzaier was at first thought to have been killed, but when his semi-conscious form was picked up from the dusty road he was sobbing, heaving as though painfully injured internally. Kemp placed the injured man in the automobile and hurried him to the Receiving Hospital where Dr. A. S. Kelley was called to treat him. The laborer had sustained fractured lower jaw, a fractured rib and painful cuts and bruises besides internal injuries which the physicians say are not serious.

Boonzaier cannot explain the cause of the accident except that he was hurrying across the road and being it was late he did not take a careful observation of his surroundings before attempting to cross. The chauffeur says he did not see the man in the road until upon him and by his throwing the machine on a side course, he narrowly escaped killing Boonzaier. This morning about 10 o'clock the injured man was removed to the county infirmary near San Leandro.

COLUMBIA'S SUCCESSOR IN COLLISION Passengers Taken From Damaged Steamer

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 8.—The Portland and San Francisco lines, City of Panama, en route for Portland with a full list of passengers, and forty-six years old, was run down by automobile No. 10,444 driven by R. Kemp. Boonzaier was at first thought to have been killed, but when his semi-conscious form was picked up from the dusty road he was sobbing, heaving as though painfully injured internally. Kemp placed the injured man in the automobile and hurried him to the Receiving Hospital where Dr. A. S. Kelley was called to treat him. The laborer had sustained a great hole in the vessel. Fortunately the collision was of sufficient force to drive the Alliance high and dry on Nigger Tom Island, where she is now lying.

The passengers were brought to Portland. The City of Panama reached her dock with her bow slightly damaged and a number of plates cracked.

This was the first trip of the Panama on this route, she having been placed in service to take the place of the Columbia.

SCHMITZ APPEARS IN COURT TODAY Judge Lawlor Postpones His Decision

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Former Mayor Schmitz, who has been more closely confined to the county jail of late than during the earlier period of his detention, was out this morning with his attorney to attend the session of Judge Lawlor's court, which lasted less than five minutes.

It was known that Judge Lawlor would not decide today the various motions, asking that indictments be set aside on the ground of the illegality of the grand jury. None of the other defendants were present in the court. The appearance of the ex-mayor's name on the calendar, however, was welcomed by him as an excuse for an automobile ride.

Judge Lawlor announced that he had been informed by Judge Graham would take up the arraignment of his minutes tomorrow. He, therefore, postponed his decision until 10 a.m. Wednesday, August 14.

The long spun argument and countless delays in these motions for dismissal of indictments might form a good basis for a preaching on carelessness. The failure of Clerk Treas to enter a motion from his rough minutes into the official minutes of Judge Dunne's court has caused a delay of weeks in the determination of the important question as to the validity of all of the grand jury indictments.

MERCY! THERE ARE WITCHES HERE! BEWARE! Broomhandle Riders Are Brought to the Attention of Local Police

Witchcraft is epidemic in Oakland. For many moons past dark rumors of midnight orgies, broomhandle rides, and baneful chants rousing the shuddering echoes of the city streets in the wee dark hours of the morning have reached the ears of the city officials.

HOPING against hope, until today they have refused to credit these disquieting reports.

But now every vestige of uncertainty has been removed and the dread knowledge confronts us that we are constantly under the baneful gaze of myriad evil ones, which will delight in pouncing into the thick layer of cream that has gathered on our crock of last night's milk.

So pull down your hats, belated Oaklanders, and quicken your steps when you hear the night clock toll an even dozen strokes.

For they witches' carnival is at hand and they may be the next victim of its mad sport. Proof-incontrovertible of our visitation was received by Mayor Mott this morning in the following communication:

"Oakland, Cal., Aug. 6, 1907.

"His Honor, the Mayor—My Dear Sir: I saw three witches yesterday. I would respectfully ask you how long this thing is going to last? Something has got to be done, and done quickly to get them out of the city. The people who

THOUSANDS WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO VOTE AT THE PRIMARY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The Supreme Court, in a decision handed down today, sustains the primary election law requiring all voters to state their party affiliations at the time of registering. The act, which was passed by the last Legislature, was held to be constitutional in every particular. The decision comes as a surprise to many, as it was intimated by the court last week that a different opinion might be expected. The final disposition of this test will affect over 6000 voters who refused to state their party politics and swore in their registration to protect their rights. These electors will not now be able to participate in the coming primary election, which may change the political situation.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 8.—Over 6000 citizens of this city will be prevented from voting at the primary election next Tuesday as the result of a decision handed down by the Supreme Court today.

The court has denied the application for a writ of mandate compelling the Board of Election Commissioners, Thomas C. Cator, A. W. Voorsanger, Thomas Maguire, and Frank J. Jewell, to permit a man, who has registered without stating his political affiliation, to vote.

The decision also states that should a man, after giving his party affiliation, be begged to convert to some other party, he need not vote and can sit back and review the situation, knowing that one vote less will go to the wrong party.

The court's decision was applied for by Edward G. Schmitz, who registered without giving his political party. Schmitz, in his application for the writ, states that the law, by which the primary elections are governed, is unconstitutional.

COURT DECISION.

The court, in its decision, upholds the constitutionality of the law and refuses to grant the writ of mandamus.

In rendering this decision, the following judges concurred in their names to the decision: Chief Justice Beatty and Justices Shaw, Hemmings, Sloss and Lorrigan.

PHELAN FAVORS CITY'S BUYING SPRING VALLEY

Estimate on Property Prepared in a Report by Executive Committee of Citizens for Supervisors.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—With the ultimate intention of having it communicated to the new Board of Supervisors with the recommendation of the purchase of the Spring Valley water plant the executive committee of the Allied Commercial Association's committee yesterday made an estimate of the value of the plant. This estimate is submitted in a report which will be made to a larger committee which will be formed to meet the Supervisors. The figures which are not yet made known are said to be quite a good deal less than $21,000,000.

The executive committee, consisting of James D. Phelan, W. F. MacCurdy and Colonel William H. Hooper, met yesterday afternoon at the office of James D. Phelan in the Mutual Savings Bank building, and the report of Colonel Hooper, which had been several months in preparation, was read and acted upon.

The estimated value of the water system in dollars and cents to the city was the chief matter of Colonel Hooper's report, and it was adopted, as it was submitted, with the exception of a few minor changes, which will be prepared by Phelan.

TAYLOR FAVORABLE.

Mayor Taylor has said that he is in favor of the purchase of the Spring Valley plant by the city. It can be effected at a figure not greatly in excess of $20,000,000, and the estimate arrived at yesterday afternoon is with the exception of a few minor changes, which will be made known are said to be quite a good deal less than $21,000,000.

From Modesto comes the news that Engineer Charles Hall is engaged in a proposition to link the fortunes of the irrigationists with his company on the Tuolumne, which goes by the name of the Sierra Ditch and Water Company. Neither the irrigationists nor the Sierra Ditch and Water Company possess a reservoir. Hall's company is a matter of accumulated filings and water rights, and while he tells the Modesto people that he "has no intention of mixing up in the controversy as to the Tuolumne," those who have kept themselves informed believe there is a scheme on foot to win a reservoir rights, out of a compromise with San Francisco over the division of the waters of the Tuolumne.

REACHING AGREEMENT.

Two main factors were considered in reaching what is considered by the committee an equitable sum. On the

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT AROUSES COUNTRY PEOPLE

HOW THE AUTOMOBILE LOOKED AFTER ACCIDENT.

CENTERVILLE, Aug. 8.—An automobile accident that has aroused the whole valley took place about a mile from here Tuesday morning.

The owner of the car was J. Littlefield. The other occupants were Miss Mabel Hemming, Miss Millie Meredith and Peter Carrender.

Littlefield permitted Miss Meredith to run the car. At Irvington they stopped, drinking enough liquor to place them in no condition to be on the road. From Irvington to Centerville the road was marked by narrow escapes. Teams on the county road barely escaped being run into. At Centerville another stop was made. It was so evident that they should not be allowed to go on that the constable desired to arrest them but was advised not to do so. The girl again took the wheel. Turning toward Niles they zigzagged across the road, narrowly missing Mrs. Chester Hatch and Mr. Justice Overacker and wife, Mr. Howard Overacker, however, had the narrowest escape. Mr. Overacker is an elderly gentleman. He had his five-year-old granddaughter by his side and was driving a spirited colt. The machine approached, going faster and faster. Mr. Overacker succeeded in turning his colt just in time to avoid being hit, as the machine struck a telegraph pole a glancing blow, making a terrific noise. So fast were they going that the machine, a fine Old Royal tourist, ran nearly to the next telegraph pole before stopping. The occupants were all thrown out. Mr. Overacker's horse ran for nearly a mile before he had it under control. A number were soon at the scene. The injured were carried to Centerville and placed in the sanatorium. Miss Hemming, who sat in the back of the machine with Carrender, was severely injured, but is resting easier.

The body of the machine was badly wrecked. A wheel was smashed and the entire back part of the tonneau was torn away.

This reckless driving has been very common of late, endangering not alone the occupants of machines, but all people on the country roads. A stop should be put to such reckless and unlawful automobile driving.

MILLIONS OF BARRELS

OR CEMENT USED

One of the most important factors in the rebuilding of San Francisco under modern construction conditions is cement. The amount used in the new buildings that have gone up in the burned district, the amount used being something phenomenal. According to figures secured by the California Promotion committee, there have been bought 2,500,000 barrels of cement since the fire about 2,500,000 barrels of cement. Of this 1,300,000 barrels came from foreign countries, 200,000 barrels from the United States, 1,000,000 barrels from California, and 1,000,000 barrels from San Francisco.

A barrel of cement weighs 400 pounds, containing 100 pounds of cement, 300 pounds or 600,000 tons of cement in these two and a half million barrels. To haul this vast amount would require 25,000 horses, 10,000 drivers, 10,000 teams and 10,000 drivers. This figure will give some idea of the vast undertaking embodied in the rebuilding of San Francisco.

BOILER MAKER OFFICIALS ATTEND CONFERENCE LOOKING TO PEACE

Twenty-Three Men Are Out in Oakland

Master Mechanic Russell reported today that twenty-three boiler-makers employed in the West Oakland shop of the Southern Pacific company dropped their tools at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in protest to instruction received from union officials at Los Angeles.

"There are thirty helpers and two apprentices working in the boiler department today, and they are liable to be called out at any time," continued Russell.

CAUSE OF STRIKE.

"What is the cause of the trouble, I can only surmise," he added, and that has something to do with the refusal of the company to discharge a foreman at Los Angeles, against whom the men lodged complaints some time ago, is believed here.

An investigation was made by the officers of the company and a hearing was granted to the men, but they were unable to make out a case which the company considered justified the discharge of the foreman, and he was kept in his position.

"Our own men here," said Russell, "declared when going out that they had no grievance against the company, and were quite satisfied with the manner in which they have been treated. They said, however, that they were leaving in response to orders from union officers, nothing else. Most of these men have been in the company's employ for a long time past. It is unpleasant to both sides to have them quit work."

CONFERENCE THIS AFTERNOON.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—The boiler-makers on strike on the Southern Pacific was at a standstill this morning, pending the result of the conference to be held this afternoon between company officials and representatives of the union. The meeting will be at 2:30 o'clock in the Huntington building.

H. J. Small, general superintendent of motive power and machinery of the Harriman line, R. H. Ingraham, general superintendent of this division, and Patrick Sheedy, local superintendent of motive power will appear for the company. Palme of San Francisco and one or two others will represent the men.

The grievances of the strikers will be taken up and if possible a basis of settlement reached.

Practically all of the Southern Pacific boilermakers in this district are out.

CUT AT SACRAMENTO.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 8.—The Southern Pacific boilermakers here went out on strike at 8 o'clock this morning.

COVERS WIDE TERRITORY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—No change has been effected in the status of the Southern Pacific boilermakers' strike so far as has been reported to the local officials.

All of the boilermakers in the Pacific division from El Paso to Ashland, Oregon, from San Francisco to Sparks, Nevada are out.

The total number of the strikers is approximately 250, according to local Southern Pacific officials, and only six or eight men in the entire division—at San Francisco and Sacramento—are at work.

AWAITING NEWS.

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 8.—Striking members of the boilermakers' union who left the employ of the Southern Pacific in the local shops yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock are this morning gathered in groups around the street corners awaiting news from the conference in Los Angeles between H. J. Small, general superintendent of motive power and machinery of the Harriman lines, and the grievance committee of the Los Angeles union and district union officers, scheduled to take place at 10 o'clock.

A rumor was current early this morning that the men would positively return to work this afternoon, but this they denied and state that their course is to be decided by the result of the conference today. Should an agreement be reached and an amicable settlement be made, the local men are ready to return to work at the first order.

Small went to Los Angeles in his special car late last night.

NEVADA MEN HOPEFUL.

SPARKS, Nev., Aug. 8.—About thirty boilermakers are out this morning as a result of the strike trouble that originated in Los Angeles. The men decline to talk, but the prevailing sentiment here is that matters will be adjusted in a few days. Most of the men expect to be back to work by Monday.

OLD HUSBAND NOT SUITABLE

Aged Man Tells Story of Marital Troubles and Court Grants Him Divorce.

Relief has at last come to the broken hearts of John A. Spore and his wife Alice, who married each other in Kansas many years ago and who have never loved each other since the second day after their wedding, when Spore and his wife both realized that the oddities of their differences could not make their life a happy one. This morning Judge Wells signed an interlocutory decree in favor of the gray-haired husband of past sixty years, who says his wife has foreseen his son, a gay young man named R. T. Thomas, in the lines of the Oakland Traction Company.

Mrs. Spore says she loves the carman and is said to have addressed her husband as "John, you know, I never loved you." "Now, one day of my life have I been happy in your company. I am now so happy. I have met the man I have looked for all these years. I love him and I would go to him."

The gray-haired and stoop-shouldered man, who "just about broke him up," out of thirty-six nights he said his wife was away until the early hours for thirty-three nights. These hours were spent in merriment at theaters, dances, etc., and the wretched life of the young wife. Spore said his wife could stand his company no longer, so left him and since then has been living in a house in East Oakland, where the husband alleges Thomas is said to support him and the three children. Mrs. Spore is said to have warned Spore against coming to the house for fear that the carman will kill him.

MOTHER KEEPS CHILDREN.

Spore says he is willing the children should stay with their mother as long as she is kind to them. In the divorce decree, Judge Wells awarded the custody of the children to Mrs. Bessie and John to their mother with $30 a month alimony for their support.

The aged husband, who formerly kept a little store in East Oakland said that he had met his wife when she was a girl in Kansas. He said he married her because she was the daughter of a poor woman who was packing up to return to Chicago. Rather than have his sweetheart taken away, he said he took pity on her and they were married. Spore said he knew they could not live happily together.

He said his wife had left him in Kansas, he said his wife ran off to dances with young fellows and refused to stay at home with him. When he rebuked her she says he told him he was "all worn out" and did not dress and act like other men she traveled with.

THEATER EMPLOYEE ARRESTED.

William Corkery, who recently finished serving a term of six months in the city prison for petty larceny, was in the police court this morning, charged with failure to provide for his three minor children. The man's wife declared that Corkery was constantly involved in trouble, usually with the police, and that she was obliged to depend upon her own meager earnings for support of herself and children.

Corkery has a police record in San Francisco. After administering a lecture to the man, Judge Smith released him and continued his case until September 1, with the proviso that he pay his wife $10 a week in future.

The judge warned Corkery that if his wife made further complaint he would receive another six months' sentence.

BANK EMPLOYEE ARRAIGNED.

Joseph M. Smith, former collector of the First National Bank, who is accused of embezzling a considerable amount of the bank's funds, was formally arraigned on a charge of felony embezzlement before Police Judge Samuels this morning. The complaint against Mrs. Smith was not over until tomorrow by Police Judge Smith to allow a complaint to be filed. The search warrant proceedings will be brought up in court on August 22.

HEAVY DRAFT DEMANDED.

Joseph Rodgers, who is accused of holding improper relations with his 13-year-old daughter, Amelia, was arraigned in the Police Court this morning on a charge of incest. He will be held before Judge Samuels on August 22.

He will be held before Judge Samuels on August 22.

WOMAN DEFIES OFFICER.

Miss Jessie Burton yesterday swore out a warrant for the purpose of recovering a gold watch, which she declared her ladylike, Mrs. Amy Griffith had taken from her room and refused to return. Detective Flynn was sent to serve the warrant on Mrs. Griffith.

He met with determined opposition from the woman, and when he finally returned with the watch his hat was torn into bits. He took Mrs. Griffith to police headquarters and entered a charge of interfering with an officer.

The hearing of the charge against Mrs. Griffith was set over until tomorrow by Police Judge Smith to allow a complaint to be filed. The search warrant proceedings will be brought up in court on August 22.

CITIZEN TO CONTEST SCHOOL BOARD RULING

BERKELEY, Aug. 8.—The enforcement by the Board of Education of the recently passed rule forbidding the pupils of the High School to be in less than one or two subjects which they undertake in their school year has raised a storm of protest.

Captain E. V. Rideout, president of the Citizens' Rideout, who was dropped from the rolls of the school, will fight the case in court.

He contends that there is a state compelling pupils between certain ages to attend school, while the rule of the Berkeley board of education suspends from the rolls of the school all persons who fall in two studies or more.

When arrested Staley said that he had just left the freight yards where his mother, Mrs. Blanche Staley, lives. Young Staley declared that he was en route to San Francisco to visit a cousin named Jack Post. He was under the name of his father, J. F. Davis, in the grocery business. The boys will be detained until their parents are notified of their whereabouts.

Daredevil Bluejackets Object to Bonus for Officers and Gunboat 'President'

Unable to Sail South.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Must the southern republics, the steam schooner President, together with a boat, be purchased for the purpose of putting down a revolution in which Guatemala was encouraging. Immediately plans were laid to dispatch the vessel from this port with implements of war not later than August 3. Entirely refitted the little steam schooner was hauled out into the stream. When the Japanese learned that he had paid an assessment of $1.28 on unsecured property twice he asserted the importance assumed by most of the little Spanish man was put ashore and the newly-converted gunboat was given a trial spin on the bay.

It would seem so now that every indication of immediate delay in the sailing date of the little steamer President, which comprises Salvador's naval force and has been lying in the harbor down with wind and wave, is now lost.

On board the President is a thirty-foot launch which was to be used as the flagship of the Salvadoran squadron. For how could the gunboat, which was to be used as a flagship, from the absence of a captain, direct the movements of his fleet?

WILSON WILL MEET PACKERS

Secretary of Agriculture Comes and Is to Explain Drastic Sulphur Law.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson arrived from Oregon this morning.

Secretary Briggs of the board

Burns as an Election Supervisor.

The semi-official announcement that the San Francisco grand jury, which should have been discharged last January if the direction of the law had been obeyed, will be kept in session till after the primary election is held, opens up a field of interesting inquiry. Coupled with the announcement is the significant intimation that the grand jury may be called on to deal with election matters. What is apprehended and what is the grand jury expected to do?

Is it to be understood that William J. Burns, acting by direction of Mr. Spreckels' committee, is to supervise the coming elections and see that they go right? It would seem so. Mr. Burns seems to have a roving commission to supervise everything and everybody in San Francisco, from courts and grand juries to elections. True, he is not an officer of the law, only a private detective employed and paid by a coterie of persons whose identity has never been disclosed, but he seems to have resolved himself into a general regulator of public and private affairs. Burns appears to be not only the "main squeeze" of the graft crusade, but a sort of social and political disinfectant.

Still there are people who may cavil at the political activities of Mr. Burns and the grand jury. Some of them may be so lost to decency as to insinuate that Mr. Burns and the grand jury have no business to meddle with the primary or any other election. They may even be abandoned enough to insist that the law provides how and by whom elections shall be supervised, and that the statutes contain no hint of supervision by a private detective and a grand jury acting under the authority of a secret junta headed by Mr. Rudolph Spreckels, who in some way seems to have been constituted a special guardian of the courts, government, politics and morals of the people of San Francisco.

But such sinister persons will doubtless be promptly indicted and sent to prison. A combination of judge, district attorney, private detective and a band of willing witnesses is dangerous to tackle, especially when it is enlisted in the cause of civic reform, and it is possible that Mr. Burns will not meet with serious hindrance in his task of seeing that things come out right for the good people at the coming elections.

In the case of Moller vs. Moller, 115 New York, the Court of Appeals of the Empire State laid down the doctrine that the uncorroborated testimony of private detectives and prostitutes was not entitled to belief, but when a private detective is acting, as Mr. Burns is, as the avenging angel of a special providence (personified in Mr. Rudolph Spreckels) such dictum will not hold good—at least, not in Judge Dunne's court. As nobody is likely to lose in the voting except those who kick against Mr. Burns and the grand jury holding a big stick over everybody who participates in the activities of municipal politics this year, there ought to be no ground for uneasiness or complaint. Mr. Spreckels and his associates will see that the ship of state will be steered straight.

A vast deal of rubbish has been printed and talked about the incident of a silly woman hoisting a red flag over her house in Oakland in honor of the acquittal of William D. Haywood. The matter would have excited little attention if a foolish police official had not tried to magnify the affair to advertise himself. A red rag in the hands of a woman in her own yard is not a thing to stir the pulses of the nation or excite the police to patriotic ardor. We have no sympathy with the methods of Haywood et al. or the doctrines the red flag symbolizes. Nevertheless, it is not against the law to raise the red flag or advocate Socialism. The red flag is notice of an auction sale, but a police officer would make himself ridiculous by commanding an auctioneer's banner to be taken down on the ground that it was dangerous to the peace and dignity of the State and an insult to patriotic sentiment. But some people cannot refrain from exercising authority with intolerant zeal nor allow themselves to be guided by a little common sense. Now if some fool woman were to wave a red flannel petticoat in honor of the promotion of some fool police officer, she would perhaps be regarded as a heroine and a lady of quality by the aforesaid official ass. The red flag incident in Oakland has mainly served to advertise the pernicious activity of a blockhead clothed with an authority that he has not enough sense to use with proper discretion.

American Rule in the Philippines.

The Nevada City Miner-Transcript finds no analogy between the treatment of Corea by Japan and the treatment of the Philippines by the United States. It says the Philippines are ours by right of conquest, but it does not undertake to explain why our government went through the formality of paying $20,000,000 for the islands. Nor does it attempt to make its right-of-conquest theory square with the declaration of Congress at the outset of the Spanish war that the war was waged for the deliverance of Cuba from foreign tyranny and not for the acquisition of territory. Says the Miner-Transcript:

"The American occupation of the Philippines is not in the nature of usurpation. This government came into possession of the islands by right of conquest. Its victory over Spain gave it the right to occupation. The United States never sought the Philippines either for strategic purposes or to curtail the freedom of its people. We had no interests in the Pacific prior to the outbreak of the Spanish war which made it incumbent on us to usurp any of the islands as a base in the event of war."

Without intending disrespect, we say this is humbug, and very transparent humbug at that. We did not have to take the islands ourselves to rid them of Spanish oppression. But if it was our duty to take possession of the islands and govern them despite the wishes of the inhabitants, why did we pretend to buy them? We guaranteed the Cubans the right of self-government under our protection. Instead of according the Filipinos the same treatment, we took possession of their country by right of purchase, not conquest, from Spain. It is notorious that we forced Spain to cede her title to the islands, and made payment for them to give verisimilitude to the pretense that we did not acquire them by conquest. If Spain was an usurper and oppressor why was her title bought? If her title was ours it is equally invalid.

Our Nevada City contemporary goes on to say:

"Spain had shown its inability to govern the people of the islands and maintain peace and promote prosperity. International obligations made it impossible for the government to turn over the conduct and care of the government to Aguinaldo and his band of cut-throats, for Aguinaldo had no sense of responsibility. His guerrilla warfare and savage treatment of those who fell into his clutches made it impossible for any civilized government to turn the country over to his care. His attempts at government had been a failure, which he is now prepared to acknowledge in view of the progress which has been made under the fostering care of the United States."

Have we been any more successful in governing the Filipinos

SOMEBODY'S MONKEYING WITH THE WIRES.

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER

peacefully than the Spanish were? Have we not been at almost continuous warfare with the natives? Do we not have to maintain a large standing army in the islands to sustain our authority and the government we have instituted?

When did Aguinaldo become a bloodthirsty guerrilla? He was hailed as a patriot in this country till he objected to his country being bought and sold like a cattle ranch. Dewey and our consuls in the Orient treated with him and virtually entered into an alliance with him during the war with Spain. He was supplied with arms and munitions by our government. He only turned against us when we denied his country the independence he was trying to win from Spain. If the islands came to us as legacy of the Spanish war they were a legacy of conquest and oppression. Calling what we have done "benevolent assimilation" does not in the least mend its character and morals. We have established our right by might, just as all conquerors have done, but the plain facts stand as a reproach to us and our professions. With these facts in sight, it is sheer effrontery for us to rail at Japan for what she has done in Corea.

Production of Dustless Streets.

At the meeting of the Board of Public Works yesterday the subject of oiling dusty streets was threshed out, and its merits and objectionable features were brought out in the triangular discussion between Mayor Mott, Commissioner Turner and Superintendent Potter of the Oakland Traction Company. The latter was being grilled for ballasting the street railway track with an inferior material which quickly crumbled into dust and created an intolerable nuisance. The point under consideration was the means of laying the dust. According to Superintendent Potter, the Traction Company is using five million gallons of water a month in track sprinkling without obtaining satisfactory results and that he knew of nothing better to do than to use more water. "Why not sprinkle your roads with oil?" was the question with which the mayor precipitated a discussion on the subject, in which he was opposed by his co-commissioners and the railway superintendent, who claimed that they voiced the popular judgment:

It is no doubt true that protests have been made against the sprinkling of streets with oil, because some experiments made have given offense. But there is also merit in the mayor's assumption that the primary cause of the offense was that the work was not done right and that the sprinkled roadways and crosswalks were used before the oil had time to set. It is a matter of record that in Southern California and in the central San Joaquin valley the earlier experiences in road oiling to reduce the dust, created much opposition and nearly wrecked the whole plan, because the sprinkling was not done properly and the road was used too soon after the oil-sprinkling was done. Intelligent experimentation has produced, however, unobjectionable methods of road oil-sprinkling in both sections and, as a result, hundreds of miles of dustless streets and rural highways have been produced of late years. Moreover, the load-carrying capacity of these oiled roads has been greatly increased by the process. It was evident from the discussion that Mayor Mott has his mind set on trying an experiment sooner or later.

It is a noteworthy fact that in France common coal tar—a much more offensive product than crude petroleum—is being used successfully as a dustless roadmaker. Satisfactory results are obtained, however, only through the systematic application of the tar and its careful admixture with the loose material of the roadway and then rolling it with a heavy steam roller so as to harden the surface. Smooth, dustless, waterproof and durable road surfaces and an immense saving of water formerly used in sprinkling are claimed to be the result.

What the people of this city want, of course, is smooth surfaced and dustless streets. They are doubtless indifferent as to how these results are brought about—whether by the use of more fresh water or the application of salt water or by oil-sprinkling so long as no counter nuisance is created. And as to that it will depend, as Mayor Mott has justly said, on the manner in which the work is done.

An officer in the United States army is supposed to be a gentleman. He should be one at all events. But unfortunately the service is disgraced by an ineffectual blackguard in the person of Lieutenant George A. F. Trumbo of the Twelfth United States Cavalry. His letter to Mrs. Lettie Sims of Clarksburg, West Virginia, saying "it gives me great pleasure to inform you that your son, who is about the most worthless scoundrel I ever saw, is a deserter from the United States army," is the most despicable and brutal piece of composition that can be imagined. A man so low in the scale of honor and decency as to pen such a cruel, heartless and cowardly letter to a mother is unworthy to wear the national uniform in any capacity. He is beneath the contempt of gentlemen. As he has not been cashiered and dismissed officially, the other officers in the service should ostracize him and compel him to resign. The bluntness of a soldier can be pardoned, but the cold malice of a coward and blackguard cannot be palliated.

SHORT SLEEVES FAD OF WOMEN MEANS FORTUNES FOR DRESS AND GLOVE MAKERS

Merest Whim Caused It and Next Revolution of Wheel Will Cause It to Disappear, Though Now Hailed as an Heaven-Born Inspiration of Fashion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—On a few inches of a woman's sleeve depends a fortune that writes itself in seven figures. A whim made it. An idle fancy may take it away.

The dressmaker on the one hand insists that the costly shortage was the accident of a logical revolution of taste, bound to disappear with the next turn of the wheel. The glove-maker, on the other hand, is ready to make affidavit that it has a Heaven-born inspiration, an artistic development, which cannot be set aside without a retrogression in dress that makes for beauty. Between them both, the veritable goddess of chance, stands the woman, and on her nod hangs the material fate of two continents.

Since the introduction of the short sleeve, with its concomitant, the long glove, one manufacturer of gloves alone has recorded a 80 per cent increase in his sales over last year, and the pressure put upon the factory hands is beyond belief. It is monumental, stupendous, a strange industrial crisis, which affords remarkable delights.

The short sleeve was tentatively tried in women's garments of the more modish description a little over three years ago. The fashions that the Empress Eugenie created for the ladies of the imperial court to copy had been revived in a modified edition. The stage, as always, was largely responsible. And, with the revival, the sleeve at once became abbreviated and exaggerated, a decoration, a feature of the gown rather than its mere accessory.

SHORT SLEEVE WELL LIKED.

The success of the short sleeve was enormous. It was graceful, charming. An arm gleaming through lace ruffles that fell back every now and then to reveal the rounded firmness was an asset greatly to be desired.

The tailors took their cue from the modistes, and the severely made walking power tucked up its sleeves to the height of a gauntlet glove. Then the princess gown, with its tiny jacket, lifted the sleeve a trifle higher and the glove took a considerable jump to keep pace. Those who were still conservative kept just below the elbow. But presently that line was wholly discarded, and wraps even of fur in the coldest weather boasted sleeves that would hardly have protected the arm of a child.

As the need grew greater the trusty glove grew heavier. Dogskin and horse-hair gloves, the thickest of dressed goat-skin gloves, in lengths that rivaled many a lady's hosiery, appeared in the shops, and

THE GIRLS

See the beaches filled with girls,
Summer girls.
Girls with blisters on their arms,
Where the sun beats on their charms,
Girls whose bathing suits are brief,
Girls in blue and girls in gray,
Girls who have not learned that grief
Ever frightens joy away;
Girls in green and girls in pink,
Girls who giggle, girls who wink
When a stranger passes by;
Girls with dimples, girls without;
Short and tall and slim and stout,
Haughty, luring, bold and shy
Girls, girls, girls;
Chatting, gossiping and dreaming
With their white throats brightly gleaming
Where they loll upon the beaches,
Or wade in with gasps and screeches
Till the water almost reaches
To their knees, knees, knees;
Oh, the girls,
Oh, the shouting, screaming peaches
Full of youthful ecstasies
As the water swells and swirls
Round the ankles of the girls,
Summer girls, girls, girls, girls, girls, girls, girls,
Oh, the laughing, flirting, giggling summer girls,
girls, girls!

See the porches filled with girls,
Yearning girls;
Girls in pink and blue and white,
Chewing gum with all their might
As they wait, wait, wait
For the lonesome week to end,
As they fondly hope that fate,
Having heard their prayers, may send
Men in squads to make them glad.
See them sitting, hoping, sighing
While the bugs are busy trying
All the day to drive them mad!

Girls, girls, girls—some with gleaming solitaires
Which they show with conscious pride;
Here and there an eager bride
Toying with the ring she wears;
Widows scratching at her arms,
Where upon their ample charms
Bold mosquitoes have been free
To sit feasting merrily,
What a sorry lot they are
As they loll there waiting, far
From the noise of the city!
They are bulging with self-pity
As they hanker for the end
Of the long and lonely week,
When the fellows shall descend
In a happy horde to seek
Sweet seclusion with the girls,
Waiting girls—

Oh, the blessed train that whirls
Gladness to the yearning girls,
To the waiting, hoping, hammockfuls of girls,
girls, girls;

the arm benefit of its natural covering was as cosy in its wrinkled kid enclosure as in the warmth of sleeves. The Empire gown followed the princess with, imparting a look of delicacy to the hand beneath. Others took up the note as the latest cry of fashion and the edict flashed around the world.

The glove-makers at once flew to arms—their kingdom was threatened. The dressmakers stood prepared to use the shears on the gloves as unspareingly as they had before employed them on the sleeve, and the end is not yet. But meanwhile the woman herself in Paris has revolted from the dictum of London, and, for the coming season, at least, the undraped arm and the shivering kid will still parade in company. To be sure the sleeve has crept just below the elbow again, but its fall will hardly affect the length of the glove, which promises to be more wrinkled than ever.

Mme. Eugenie Fouquer, the French chanteuse now appearing at the Paradise Roof Garden, who has come direct from Paris, brings the latest note of the sleeve from that center of fashion, not only in her wardrobe, but in her animated rejection of the proposed tragedy.

"The long sleeve? But not. I have never again"—she calls it "nevaire." "In Paris, at all the great modistes, there is no sign of the long sleeve. In the shops it is the short sleeve everywhere. The sleeve will not go down—it will go up. Not below the elbow, but above. Oh, it is tres chic, tres gentille, comme ca."

"For a dinner dress, a ball dress, the sleeve is very little, very short and the glove very long. For the visiting gown it comes just to the elbow. For the walking costume the sleeve just turns the elbow sometimes—more often it is above.

"For me"—and the French woman thrust out her shapely arm in illustration—"it would be impossible to wear the long sleeve. I must be free. It is so much more graceful, and the actress must think always of grace first. Consider, in a sleeve the arm is held closely as in a shield. It becomes stiff and meaningless. The half sleeve is only like the trimming. It does not confine the muscles. And the glove is close only on the hand. On the arm it wrinkles naturally and should be quite loose and much longer than the actual space it covers."

WHY SHOULD ARMS BE HIDDEN?
"On the stage of course I wear no other than short sleeves at any time. And for private life why should a woman hide her arm? It is much more comfortable, it is much more beautiful, and it makes the woman look younger to have it uncovered. As in the neck, contour is better preserved when it is exposed to the air. I believe in the short sleeve. I will have no other."

"There will be long sleeves in the very severe tailor gowns," was the prophecy of John Forsythe, of the Broadway shop for women's waists and costumes, "but most of the other models will have three-quarter sleeves, just below the elbow. The glove-maker will not suffer during this season for lack of a market for the long glove. We shall sell both the long sleeve and the short sleeve, and necessarily the long glove and the short glove."

"There is no indication at present that the London sleeve, with lace falling to the knuckles, will prevail," said Miss McGowan, head of the department of imported costumes for Wanamaker. "Our plainer tailor gowns will show long sleeves, but in the same proportion that they have done heretofore. Each season some gowns have demanded this cut of sleeve. But the greater number of our imported costumes all come with three-quarter sleeves. The short sleeve is a pretty style, and so much more commodious that most women prefer it. The long glove is evidently here to stay for some time at least."

H. A. Taylor, of the Julius Kayser Co., the largest manufacturers of silk gloves in the country, smiled when he was questioned about the decline of the short sleeve.

"If there is any such prospect in view," he said, "we have had no indication of it. The entire output of this firm for 1908 in long gloves has already been sold out, and we are able to keep abreast of the demand only by almost superhuman efforts. We are working our people 16 and 20 per cent overtime. The increased time giving a much increased wage has created a singular condition among the workers. With much more money to spend their taste for recreation has increased, but their leisure time has been practically swept away."

"Their dissatisfaction with added gains is one of the singular features of the case. The firm's sales for 1908 are 60 per cent heavier than those for 1907 in long gloves."

While the short sleeve has wrought this havoc with my lady's pocketbook, another cause has contributed to the expense of the long silk glove which is now the mode. The price of raw silk has been so largely raised by the present fancy for ribbons that in a few months it has jumped from $4 to $6 a pound.

There have been many complaints in different quarters that the retailers have taken advantage of the situation to reap harvest by putting a prohibitive figure on long gloves, but there is now a tendency to return to more moderate prices and greater stability.

In the memory of the dealers nothing compares with the present rage unless it be the jersey waist, which some years ago ran such a career in varying shapes in the feminine wardrobe. As a fashion it seemed fixed for years to come, at the moment of its greatest popularity the reaction came, and between a Saturday and Monday the jersey was relegated to the dust heap and has never reappeared.

The Newport indications for short sleeves are an undisturbed reign. The representative of the Madame C. Donovan, just home from Paris, says that only a few of the costumes showed sleeves below the elbow. She predicts that some of the winter costumes will carry the long sleeve but that theater and the more elaborate styles of dress born out this testimony. Among the society women the short sleeve is almost exclusively worn. It is popular because it imparts a more youthful appearance to the wearer.

F. J. Lea, the confectioner and proprietor of Lea's Old English Inn, with Dr. W. Friedman, has returned after a month's absence in Tahiti. These gentlemen left here on July 1 on the steamer Mariposa. The trip outward was one of perfect enjoyment. This was heightened by a delightful experience on the island. The place is under French domination, and, while the Ondakers were there, there was an imposing celebration of the Fall of the Bastille, the crowning feature of which was the governor's ball at which both Mr. Lea and Dr. Friedman were guests.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.
Harry Craig was the recipient of a surprise party last Tuesday evening planned by his friends in celebration of his twenty-first birthday.

The party was given at the Craig home in East Oakland, and the evening was spent in singing, games and dancing.

Among the guests were Eddie Porterfield, Minnie Jennings, Minnie Thurow, Hazel Porterfield, Beesie Jennings, Fannie Fetterhoff, Ross Miller, Charles Jennings, Henry Steinbeck, Charles Everison, Walter McDonald, Ed Stahler, William Hedenreich, Frank Craig, Will Craig, Harry Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Goodmanson, Mrs. R. L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Craig, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. W. B. Brown, Mrs. W. H. Charlock.

GOLDEN WEDDING.
Mr. and Mrs. James Edgar Fowler will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Monday, August 18, at the home of their only daughter, Mrs. N. D. Merritt in Linden street. The reception hours are between 2 and 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, and over 100 cards have been sent out. The guests will include many old pioneers of the State and older friends of the family. After the reception an elaborate wedding supper will be served, with a few close friends as guests and the members of the Fowler family.

Fowler came around Cape Horn in 1849, joining the rush to the gold mines. In 1857 he returned to the East and claimed his bride, Miss Charlotte Esther Palmer, of New Jersey. He brought her to California, where they have lived 50 years. For 35 years they were prominent in affairs of Sonoma County. Then they came to Oakland. They live with Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Merritt.

AT SANTA CRUZ.
Mrs. William H. Bassett, her two daughters and son, Miss Edna, Miss Eleanor and W. Bassett, have just returned from a few weeks' vacation at Santa Cruz, where they have had a very enjoyable time.

HOME AGAIN.
Miss Maud Madden, accompanied by her cousin, Miss Julia Miles, has returned home after an extended trip to San Diego, Los Angeles and other southern points of the State.

BRIEF VISIT.
Mrs. Samuel Frater will remain in town for a few weeks but will return to the Yosemite, where she spent the early part of the season. The Frater country home is one of the attractive bungalows in the Yosemite Valley.

WILL RETURN.
Mrs. Harry Knowles and Mrs. Minor Goodall will return next week after a delightful summer vacation spent in Los Angeles and Catalina Island.

EASTERN TRIP.
Mrs. Isaac L. Rice, president of a society for the prevention of unnecessary noise, has gone to Europe to find out something of the methods abroad in regard to such work. Her report upon her return will be of great interest. There is a good one in that in houses where there are sick people a red cross might be shown to indicate the fact to drivers

BRING BACK THE SMILE

Bring back the smile to her face; perhaps she is weary and worn;
Bring back the cheer to her heart with a song of the sweetheart;
Bring back the red rose of joy to the lips that are shadowed with gloom;
Bring back the glory of golden days in the beautiful valleys of bloom!

Bring back the smile to her face; perhaps she is aching for rest;
Bring back the light of the other days when the heart beat young in your breast!
Bring back the smile to her face, in the tender and beautiful way
That love leans down to the lips of love in a kiss of the sweet heart day!

WIVES ADVISED TO KILL HUSBANDS WHO BEAT THEM

Judge Further Declares That if Male By-stander Helps Woman Victim He Would Be Exonerated.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Judge Richard S. Tuthill, in Circuit Court, has declared that if any person used a club on any man who beat his wife he would be justified. Further, the court declared that if the man were arrested for assisting the woman, he could bring habeas corpus proceedings and he would discharge him.

He advised women whose husbands beat them to kill the brutes. The court made these remarks while listening to testimony in a suit for divorce.

The plaintiff declared that her husband believed it to be one of his prerogatives to beat his wife, and that if the man were arrested for assisting the woman, he could bring habeas corpus proceedings and he would discharge him.

She said that after leaving their home in Russia, her husband still retained that right.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—After W. R. Basier, a laborer, had made preparations to cremate his wife in his home at 320 Enterprise street, last evening, a police officer arrived in time to prevent the man from carrying out his warrant.

Mr. Basier had been issued a warrant for his wife's arrest on a charge of battery, and he had become incensed.

After locking his wife in the house, he poured kerosene about the premises and when arrested, declared that he was about

JIMMY BURNS-JOE GANS FIGHT IS OFF FOR GOOD

Bohemian Lightweight Trumps Up Excuse
That He Is Sick and Match Goes by the Boards.

By EDDIE SMITH.

"It's better to get sick now and have the people say you are afraid to meet Joe Gans at 132 pounds at the ringside, than it is to get a good beating and then have the people say that you are a bum fighter and that you never could or never will be able to fight."

This is, no doubt, the feeling that came over Jimmy Burns (George Menard), as the date of the proposed Burns-Gans fight drew near. The contest has been indefinitely postponed and it now looks as if it would never take place.

Gans was on the ground and ready to go through with his part of the agreement, even though he was taking a chance on losing out on the proposed Britt-Gans fight, for a much larger purse. Gans was in little danger of being beaten by Burns, but with a tough, strong fellow like the Bohemian, a fighter is always taking a chance of breaking his hands or receiving a swing from some place that accidentally lands on the right spot and puts the championship in new hands.

All champions are beaten by men who no one thinks has a chance, and it was these chances that Gans was taking when he agreed to go through with the agreement that he had made with McCarey.

Burns has been examined by three different physicians. The first to visit him was the club physician. He returned after a rather hasty examination and reported that the fighter was suffering from auto-intoxication. If he had said that the fighter was suffering from a sore hand or lame back the average person would have known what he meant, but as three other men of the medical world went to examine the sick man and after a rigid examination pronounced him in good condition and weighing in the neighborhood of 148 pounds, we now realize that auto-intoxication means a failure to make the required weight without cutting off a leg.

When Burns was here to help his manager and tutor Tommy Burns to see from Bill Squires, he talked from morning till night on how he would like to get a match with Gans and how easy it would be for him to make the light weight limit.

At the time several of the good judges of fighting flesh expressed the opinion that Burns looked more like a welterweight than a lightweight. The writer asked him if he was sure he could make the weight, and he replied with an injured air that he could do it standing on his head. At that time it was the opinion of the writer that Jimmy Burns was somewhat of a talker and that the noise he made about fighting Gans was so pleasing to his ears, that he insisted on repeating the debt to every one who would listen to it. It may be that Burns meant that he could beat Gans in a talkfest instead of a fight.

At any rate the thing is off, and the negro fighter, after collecting enough of the forfeit money to pay his expenses will hike back from Los Angeles and devote his time to one James Edward Britt.

The representatives of Britt and Gans were to have met tonight and decided what the odds that are now in for the fight is the best to accept. Ben Seig is in Los Angeles and Willie Britt is in Reno, so the meeting will, no doubt, be postponed until Saturday.

The men will meet at the Tuxedo then and decide which is to be the club to handle the fight.

Britt's going to Reno is an indication that the Nevada city will secure the contest, but Jim May and Charles Short, the men who are backing the club, have announced that they are not so crazy to get the contest that they will put up with any of the usual nonsense that generally precedes the signing up of two great fighters, and that if the fighters do not get in action and sign very soon, the offer will be withdrawn.

How two fighters can have the gall to squabble over a contest with such a purse as $25,000 offered for it, is more than the writer can understand, and it is an indication of how the big purses of the Nevada clubs have ruined the game for the fight clubs that try to make a little money on the contests. It is the opinion of the writer that the San Francisco club that meets the Nevada offer for the contest will suffer a loss by so doing.

Alex Grgains has at last signed up a contest for the latter part of the month. Al Kaufmann and Mike Schreck will be the principals, and if the San Francisco club secures the permit as promised them, the contest will be staged on the 20th of the month.

Schreck is at present in Chicago, but is willing to leave for the coast as soon as he receives word that the contest has been arranged. Schreck is one of the toughest men at present in the business, and the boxing fans around him will be glad to get a line on him in a fight with Kaufmann, as he has been repeatedly announced as the logical opponent for Tommy Burns if the Kaufman fight falls through.

Kaufmann has been in San Francisco for the past several months and Billy Deane, who has been waiting with the young blacksmith filled out and fully developed, has announced that his charge is now ready to take on any of the big men and that he is in better shape than he has ever been for a contest.

Al has been training at the Hayes Valley club, where, with Fred Landers, he has been preparing himself for a campaign of fights in the East.

George W. Lee, Black Diamond—The exact weight of Jimmy Britt, when he weighed in for his contest with Nelson on the 30th of July will never be known, as the fighter, like a woman about her age, will never tell his weight.

When Britt stopped on the scales, however, the bar went slowly to the top and stayed there, which showed that he was slightly over the required 133 pounds at 6 o'clock.

Nelson then stepped on the scales and the bar remained still, although it quivered slightly, showing the Dane was exactly at the weight.

After the weighing in, Billy Nolan announced that Britt was, no doubt, about six ounces over the weight, but that he would not kick about it, as he was of the opinion that Britt really meant to be at the weight.

It is the opinion of the writer that Britt was a little over the weight, but just how much it would be hard to say. The chances are he was about four or five ounces over the notch.

Auto-Owners Are Sour on Thieves

Angus Pointer Paces Fast Mile

"The taking of automobiles simply for the purpose of getting, as it is termed, 'a ride out of them,' by people who do not own them and who do not pay for the use of them," said one of the best-known charmers of this city today, "takes place too frequently. It will be a costly and painful pastime for the first fellow who is caught in enjoyment of this species of rowdism."

"There have been a couple of autos belonging to people on this side of the hill which has been stolen. One was recovered after having been abandoned. The other, which took the place of the first, was taken from a restaurant in this city and has not been seen since, at least by the owner. It was with an unlucky day for the thief if his individuality is ever discovered."

POLICE RECORD.

Speaking on this same subject Captain E. K. Dodge and family, who have been touring Lake County for the last two weeks, have called on the city and all the members of the party and their families. They made a leisurely run to a new Pope-Toledo, which Mr. Dodge said was being put on the tour. The machine is not known as the tour was required to show the work it could do.

ABOUT THE BAY.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Allen and daughter, have concluded a trip in an Oldsmobile, which is the latest fad around the bay. They took all points of interest, taking in all points of interest, at night stopped at the hosteries at their heart's content, and enjoyed themselves. Theirs was not so complete as would have been had they been able to see more people whom they knew inside the bay.

"Boots" Durnell to Sell Stable

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 8.—"Boots" Durnell, one of the best known figures on the American tour and well known to California, caused quite a stir yesterday when he declared that he would dispose of his entire racing stable here on the 16th. He has not yet decided just that immediately after the sale, he will go to Europe and remain there for a year or more.

It is supposed that Durnell will go with Mr. Gates, who he goes to England, as he has already been reported to be the real owner of the Durnell stable.

Sportman's Niche

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

A NY ballplayer who thinks he can cultivate the Eddie Foy and Francis Ligon stuff and thus prolong the length of his baseball life had better take warning from the example of Arlie Latham, the greatest clown baseball has ever known. Today Arlie is having trouble in getting a job as umpire in a class 23rd league, and not so many years ago he was in demand as an attraction at some of the playhouses.

NOT many days ago a Cincinnati copper hit John McGraw on the propositus. We infer that this Queen City bull was suffering from an acute attack of yellow journalism of the sort dished up at Cincinnati.

SOMETHING must be the matter with Larry McLean's press agent. He hasn't challenged Jeffries "for Burns in the last ten days.

ALL fish stories at this season of the year must be taken as they lay. There is no chance for contradiction. There seems to be a sort of Freemasonry among fishermen that fixes things up neatly for them.

BATTING NELSON fooled them all right as long as he could, but Jimmy Britt stepped in at an unfortuitous moment for the Battler and broke up the little scene.

INDY MC COY seems to have carried his divorce-matrimonial affairs over into the automobile business.

JIM JEFFRIES recently came out with a belated statement in which he was quoted as saying that Bob Fitzsimmons was the greatest fighter that ever shucked a shirt. It did not remain for him to make it unanimous.

ROM Bakersfield comes the report that Cal Ewing favors continuous baseball next year. We had something that closely resembled that brand last Tuesday when Hesp was on the firing line from Los Angeles.

WHEN one looks at it from a proper sense of mercy he will hardly be likely to criticize Jimmy Burns for getting sick at this time. Probably Jimmy figures that it is less painful to be sick now than after August 18 when the hot weather sets in.

Danny Maher still ranks third in the standing of jockeys riding in England with a rare good chance of soon moving into second place, for he is in decidedly better form just now than George McCall, who, with fifty mounts July 22, stood second to W. Higgs, the leader, with seven and a half to his credit. Maher's winners for the Brighton Beach meeting the Keene horses have won $5,520.

Charley Brady, the midget apprentice rider attached to the Spreckels establishment, had his foot crushed while riding Vorhees the other day at Brighton Beach. This boy has experienced tough luck during his short career on the turf. Three days ago he sustained a broken arm in a fall and a little while after the toes of his right foot were crushed in a race at Sheephead Bay.

Rain Prevents Portland Game

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 8.—The Portland-Oakland baseball game was postponed here yesterday on account of rain. The Oakland team was very sorry to lose its chance to return to the percentage column, as that team is now playing second fiddle to the California League and expected to win yesterday afternoon.

It is expected that a very strong and efficient rugby fifteen will be selected from the rugby players now resident on the coast.

Coach Lanigan, who has been selected to coach the team, is to be assisted by Mr. Gates, who he goes to England, as he has already been reported to be the real owner of the Durnell stable.

SANTA CRUZ

The Ideal Spot for the Pleasure Seeker, the Searcher After Health and the Home Builder

NEW CASINO AT SANTA CRUZ.

S. A. PALMER

of the Palmer Drug Co. is the present Mayor of Santa Cruz, having been elected in May last for a term of two years. Mr. Palmer by birth is a New Yorker, having been born in that State, having come to this State in 1883. Previous to his residence in Santa Cruz Mr. Palmer was formerly in business both in Sacramento and Oakland.

NEW BATHING PAVILION AT SANTA CRUZ.

SANTA CRUZ, delightfully situated on beautiful Monterey Bay, backed by verdant mountains crowned with gigantic redwoods, fanned by the cooling breezes from the placid Pacific, which laps at its feet is pre-eminently the pleasure ground both winter and summer for all of northern and central California.

The climatic conditions prevailing there are such that thousands from the sweatering valleys of inland California throughout the summer months find here that welcome change in temperature so delightful to the dweller of the heated interior sections. During the winter term of the calendar the remarkable mildness in weather condition is still the lodestone that attracts the many visitors so that throughout the year this ideal seaside resort is the mecca for thousands of tourists.

In and around Santa Cruz nature has been lavish with her gifts. The beach and the cliffs are accessible, interesting and entertaining at all seasons of the year. Within five miles of the city is the famous Fremont grove of big trees reached by conveyance from Santa Cruz along the canon of the San Lorenzo river skirting the mountains for a time, crossing and recrossing the turbulent stream, all the time climbing upward until at last you arrive in a forest of gigantic redwoods, the most stupendous and awe inspiring specimens of nature's handiwork. It's a trite and hackneyed phrase they have coined down there—viz, "The big trees and the beach are neighbors at Santa Cruz." For where in the show places of the world can one be transported within the space of an hour above all others to whose fertile brain is due the credit for the creation and maintenance of these marvelously beautiful improvements that adorn the strand. Architects and capitalists have been simple tools in his hands for the carrying into full fruition long cherished ideals and ideas. They are not only a credit and an advantage to the surf city, a convenience, a luxury to every visitor, but they form enduring evidence as to what a man can accomplish when he sets his hand and his mind and his will upon an object of ambition.

ACCORDING to Dr. David Starr Jordan, no American body of water has a greater variety of fish than the bay that laps the shore of Santa Cruz. The Royal King salmon in summer congregates in greater numbers here than anywhere else on the coast, affording the finest fishing imaginable. Steelheads and Rainbow trout abound the Santa Cruz beach is unsurpassed in the world. It is now crowned with a bathing pavilion and casino which for size, beauty and utility are equally unsurpassed. Mr. F. W. Swanton, the directing genius of the corporation owning and controlling the varied interests at the beach is the one man above all others to whose fertile brain is due the credit for the creation and maintenance of these marvelously beautiful improvements that adorn the strand. Architects and capitalists have been simple tools in his hands for the carrying into full fruition long cherished ideals and ideas. They are not only a credit and an advantage to the surf city, a convenience, a luxury to every visitor, but they form enduring evidence as to what a man can accomplish when he sets his hand and his mind and his will upon an object of ambition.

Find great favor in English markets. All farm products, fruits and vegetables, flourish.

Roses, callas, geraniums and heliotropes thrive the year round in open air with remarkable vigor and freshness. In no section of the state are flowers more profuse or more brilliant in color than in Santa Cruz gardens.

The geographical position of the city is peculiarly favorable. Protected by the mountains from the winds and heat of the interior valleys it enjoys a remarkably agreeable climate throughout the whole year. No snow, no discomfort from cold or extreme heat. The city, with its delightful bathing facilities, its first-class hotels and excellent schools, its abundance of pure mountain water, owned by the corporation, its electric railway system of fifteen miles, and its wonderful climate, offer a combination of inducements to health-seekers and those in search of health and wholesome pleasure that can not be found elsewhere on the Pacific coast.

Camping in the Santa Cruz mountains makes an ideal vacation, whether for workingman or millionaire. Hunting, boating, fishing; abundance of the best of fruits and vegetables, beautiful drives, grand ocean and mountain scenery, all combine to fill with varied pleasures every hour of every day spent in this favored region.

The commercial opportunities of Santa Cruz should not be overlooked. A good harbor, a coast steamship line and two railway outlets insure cheap transportation, while fuel oil is cheaper than at any seaport on the Pacific Coast, being produced in large quantities, within a short distance, of the city.

A LIVE REAL ESTATE FIRM.

Messrs. D. W. Johnston, H. S. Warner and H. F. Anderson of Santa Cruz comprise the Santa Cruz Investment Company doing a very active business in real estate, insurance and investments at 126 Pacific Avenue. They have been more than ordinarily successful in opening and placing on the market many of the large subdivisions which have been recently opened for settlement in and near Santa Cruz.

In addition this enterprising firm controls a large volume of other city and country property. Mr. Anderson reports the demand for residence property in Santa Cruz is very strong. As an active member of the board of trade, he is a strong booster for his beautiful city and the remarkable growth of the town from 9000 in 1895 to 16,000 in 1907 is a source of gratification to him.

VAST IMPROVEMENTS.

are contemplated and underway in Santa Cruz and vicinity by the Coast Counties Light & Power company, who control the following companies operating throughout Santa Cruz county: The Union Tracton company; The Big Creek Light & Power company; The Santa Cruz Gas & Electric company; The Watsonville Gas and Electric company.

Work is now in progress on the reconstruction of the lines of the Union Tracton company, between Santa Cruz and Capitola and connecting lines. The old roadbed is being supplemented by a standard broad gauge track, and new and modern cars and equipment are being installed as fast as they are received. It is the plan of the company to begin construction on a new line to Capitola via Soquel at an early date. A steam power plant of 1800 horse-power is nearing completion at the beach. This will be housed in a modern reinforced concrete building, absolutely fire-proof throughout. Following the general trend of improving and developing, the transmission end of the Big Creek Power company, is to be entirely rebuilt and all along the line of their varied interests, the Coast Counties Light & Power company are planning big things for this section.

FRATERNAL ORDERS AID IN MAKING FIESTA BRILLIANT

Pythian Knights Take the Lead, With Others to Follow--Merchants Will Use Carnival Envelope.

The fraternal orders have taken up the idea of officiating at individual events of the carnival next month with enthusiasm. From far and near they will invite their brethren to Oakland to do their grous at the exposition and show by which Alameda County is to give the State a demonstration of real civic spirit and enterprise during the two weeks following the grand opening of September 23.

BLOODHOUNDS ON HIS TRAIL

Patrons of Crazy Barber Shiver When They Think of What Might Have Been.

DES MOINES, Aug. 8.—Scores of Des Moines men learned yesterday how "close shaves" they had in the last few weeks when the insanity commission found that J. A. Warren, barber in a West Side barbershop, had been crazy for months.

Warren was arrested in the shop yesterday afternoon while shaving a customer. His wife had sworn out charges of insanity. The man was led away from his shop and the west end of the city prepared for the carnival features. An immense open-air stage will be constructed on the baseball field for performances of this character.

Merchants of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and the interior towns of the county will be asked to use the carnival envelope, which will be distributed to all persons sent out during the month prior to the opening of the fiesta. The executive committee expects to have at least 200,000 envelopes ready for distribution broadcast over the country. The envelopes will be given to the merchants at cost.

FIRST PROPOSITION.

They have selected their night, and as they were the first to come forward with a concrete proposition they had first choice. On the evening of September 27 they will have full swing out at Idora Park. Knights from nearly every lodge in the State will be invited to Oakland, and unusual inducements will be offered to draw the members away from their homes. There will be the most liberal reduction in railroad fares, provided for, and arrangements will be made for entertaining the visiting lodges during their visit with utmost hospitality.

NAME COMMITTEE.

In charge of their own preparations the Knights of Pythias have appointed a committee consisting of M. Bock, E. J. Murphy and E. Bernstein. These men will give a good share of their time and thought to bring credit to their order in the eyes of the hundreds of thousands of visitors who will pass through the gates of Idora Park.

The Ladies' Relief has agreed to take charge of two concessions on the carnival grounds. A committee on which are Miss Matilde Brown, Mrs. S. D. Frather and Miss De Fremery has closed arrangements for a lunch stand on the wide porch of the theater and a refreshment booth beside the cement walk leading from the main entrance of the park to the theater. Pretty girls will volunteer to serve at the two stands.

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS.

Other organizations that will have a conspicuous part in the carnival are the West Oakland Home, Fabiola Hospital, many individual churches of the county and special charities in need of funds for their treasures.

It is expected that all the leading fraternal orders will act with the promptness that has characterized the decision reached by the Knights of Pythias. The executive committee has formulated a scheme for the assistance of these organizations that will greatly facilitate their communication with lodges outside Oakland. It will have printed and will distribute under the direction of the officers of the local lodges invitations by which the lodges will be asked to come to the great carnival and enjoy themselves. This feature will be carried out without cost to the local lodges.

ADMISSION BOOKLETS.

Within a week the special admission booklet containing twelve ten-cent admissions tickets to be sold at the reduced price of 50¢ will be ready for distribution.
